From the Headmaster

Middle School Play

First published in 1954 and not particularly successful in bookstores, William Golding's mid-twentieth century allegorical novel, Lord of the Flies (for which Golding was later knighted), was voted by TIME magazine as one of the best 100 English novels of that century. It is an incredibly powerful novel about the inability of a group of English schoolboys to set up a benign system of 'government' when they are stranded on a desert island and their subsequent descent into violence and savagery, in contrast to the Romantic idea of humans aspiring to become more civilised when left to their own devices.

The book is cleverly written and represents a fictional account of the struggle that characterised what was called the Cold War, between so-called liberal democracy and totalitarian communism. There is a hint, also, of the futuristic nature of the plot in the sense that it mirrors the possibility of what might happen following an atomic catastrophe (which, in the 1950s, was quite a possibility).

In many respects, the distinction between civilisation and savagery (community and individualism, if you like), represented by Ralph's desire to establish rules and systems that support a moral and ethical code and that protect the weak, and Jack's desire for dominance and subservience, is a direct window into life in a school and what can go wrong when boys give in to base instincts.

The Year 9 and 10 MGS students presented a splendidly tight and tense stage adaptation of Golding's book in St Martin's Theatre last week and it was a triumph. There had been 'modifications' to the script to make the references local but the essence of the original plot remained untouched.

Under, first, Mrs Robyne Grundy's direction and then, when she went on leave, under Mr Mark Brady, a troupe of seventeen Middle School students, assisted by staff and other students off-stage, held their audiences spellbound for the hour-and-a-quarter it took for the play to unfold.

The storyline is well-known. Suffice it to say that we are left to ponder whether good or virtue triumphs but we are [presented with plenty of clashes: between civilisation and raw power, 'groupthink' and individuality, rationality and emotion, caution and daring, and ultimately morality and immorality.

The tribe supported the major players with energy and, at times, frightening devotion but I think it is not unfair to suggest that the three main characters – the somewhat virtuous and timed Ralph, played by Adam Freeman (10Mr), the opportunistic and amoral Jack, played by Nick Elliott (10Rn), the luckless Simon, who becomes the victim of a 'mob', played by Seb Broome (9Ce) and the sensible 'Piggy', played by Vincent Chiang (10Rn) – carry the action for most of the production.

The set is simple but more than adequate and the cast maintains the dramatic tension and sense of what you might call propulsion admirably. Occasionally, school productions falter but there was a great deal to cram into the time and the pace was a cracker.

If you missed the play then you denied yourself a singular experience. On behalf of everyone I offer my congratulations to Mr Brady, the cast and the crew for an entertaining and thought-provoking evening.

It is a cliché, I know, but Lord of the Flies is one of the 'classics' and needs to be read by everyone, young and old alike!

Student News

I have pleasure in announcing that Morgan Cottee (11Be) and Sam Gibbons (11By) will be co-captains of Tennis for the coming season.

I am also delighted to announce the leadership group for Rowing for the coming season: Captain of Boats will be Will Hanneman (11Wy), with co-Vice-Captains Sam Hookway (11Sl) and Matt Ridgeway (11Ce).

We all wish these students well as they assume their leadership positions and help to shape their chosen sport through the next season.

In a further chapter to the unfolding story of Sam Baines (12Ce) and his extraordinary achievements in Athletics, you will be extremely pleased to know that Sam set a new Australian Under 18 record for the 110m Hurdles (91.4cm) last weekend at the Australian All-Schools' Championships. His time of 13.33s is only 0.15s outside the world youth record!

WADHURST NEWS

YEAR 7 2009 TRANSITION DAY 1

Last Friday we welcomed the boys who will be joining us at Wadhurst in Year 7 next year. Our Transition Co-ordinator, Ms Claire Montpetit, organised opportunities for these boys to learn more about Wadhurst, meet some teachers, mix with current Year 7 boys (who will be their Mentors next year), tour the school and start to make new friends. The Captain of Wadhurst, Chris Lam, spoke brilliantly to the new boys about his own experiences when beginning at Wadhurst and passed on some carefully considered advice and suggestions.

My thanks to the following boys who assisted on the day and who will be working with the new boys as their Mentors in 2009: Sam Hallebone, Oscar Johnstone, Darcy Lechte, Tom Scott, Oscar Stevenson, Andrew Burke, Sam Bongiorno, Fraser Brown, Archie Chew, Jack Everingham, Daniel Gao, Sean Morrell, Andrew Coote, Tom Eastick, Thomas Hannemann, David Marshall, Will Cody, Will Dix, Andrew Hurley, Kavindu Kumaragama, Harrison Roubin, Joseph Sitch, Sebastian Szabo, Lloyd Miller, Tim Holland, Harry Christie, George Hurley, James Leigh, Ed Stopp, Adam Barrington, Andrew Leigh, Chris Graves, Will McFarlane, Kon Panegyres, Alec Margolin and Adam Burrowes.

EXCHANGE OPPORTUNITY

Students entering Year 9 in 2009 are invited to apply for an exchange to Woodbridge School in the UK. Over recent years several of our boys have exchanged for a period of several weeks with a Year 9 boy from Woodbridge. For 2009, The Woodbridge Year 9 student/s spends approximately six weeks (from early February to mid-March) at MGS. The selected MGS Year 9 student/s travels to Woodbridge School in mid April and spends approximately six weeks at Woodbridge, returning to Australia at the end of May.

Woodbridge is a co-educational school in Suffolk, 75 miles from London. The Senior School (Years 7-12) comprises approximately 600 students, making it approximately half the size of the equivalent sections of Melbourne Grammar School (Wadhurst and Senior School). More information about Woodbridge can be found on the school's website www.woodbridge.suffolk.sch.uk.

An information sheet and expression of interest form is available from the Wadhurst Office and students or parents can seek further information from Mr. Frank Thompson, Director of Career Development at Melbourne Grammar School. Mr. Thompson can be contacted on 9865 7546 or at fcthompson@mgs.vic.edu.au.

Expressions of interest must be returned by Friday November 21.

FROM THE DIRECTOR OF LEADERSHIP

On Monday morning, Year 10 students Adam Freeman and Nick Fabbri spoke to Grimwade students at their weekly assembly. Adam and Nick spoke about their involvement with the Fred Hollows Foundation and the experiences and insights they gained travelling to Vietnam as ambassadors for the Foundation. A short audio visual presentation allowed students to see photos of patients and operations at eye hospitals in Vietnam.

Adam and Nick explained the work of the Fred Hollows Foundation and the need for support to restore sight to the blind. As a fundraising initiative they have organised a 'Sunnies for Sight Day' at Grimwade. This will be held on Tuesday 18 November. All students will be asked to wear their sunglasses and donate a gold coin for sight.

In addition, Adam and Nick appealed for old reading glasses and old sunglasses that are no longer used. The Fred Hollows Foundation uses the frames for those who cannot afford to buy much needed glasses. Friends of Grammar representatives at Grimwade have kindly offered to help with the collection of old frames.

Both Adam and Nick were students at Grimwade only 4 years ago. There were many teachers who had taught the boys while they were at Grimwade and they were pleasantly surprised to see two very tall and committed young men addressing the primary students. Adam and Nick had not been back to Grimwade since 2004 and they were blown away by the Alfred Felton Hall and other recent developments. Their initiative is a great example of leadership in action and working for the betterment of others.

The visit of senior students to the Grimwade weekly assembly was such a success that we will explore further opportunities for intercampus visits.

Athletics: Victorian All Schools Championships 7—9 November

AUSTRALIAN RECORD, 7 MEDALS and 3 SCHOOL RECORDS

Sam Baines has taken an incredible .15 off the Australian U18 110meter Hurdle Record at the Victorian All Schools Championships. This is the equivalent of 1.2 metres ahead of the old record. Callum Drake in winning the U16 3000m set a new school record with a time of 9mins and 9 seconds, whilst Tom Temay in collecting the Silver Medal in the U15 3000m broke the school record with a time of 9mins and 17 seconds.
